

MAJ Alexander Prezioso
Integrated Personnel & Pay System-Army
Product Director, Increment I

MAJ Alexander Prezioso, a New York Army National Guard Soldier, has served as the Product Director for the Integrated Personnel and Pay System-Army (IPPS-A) Increment I since January 2015. In this capacity, as well as in his previous assignment as the Deputy Product Director for IPPS-A Increment I, he supported the successful fielding of Increment I to all three components.

Prior to joining the IPPS-A Team in 2013, MAJ Prezioso served in a variety of positions within the New York Army National Guard, including a variety of State Active Duty and Joint Domestic Operational Support missions. His command positions include commanding the New York Army National Guard's first Law & Order Detachment, as well serving as the Detachment Commander for the 104th Military Police Battalion in Kingston, New York.

While serving in the 104th Military Police Battalion, MAJ Prezioso was selected to serve as the Force Protection/Antiterrorism Officer for Forward Operating Base Bucca in Iraq. Following his command assignment, MAJ Prezioso was selected as the Assistant G1 of the 53rd Troop Command, a General Officer Command within the New York Army National Guard, located at Camp Smith Training Site in Cortland Manor, New York.

MAJ Prezioso was early-commissioned as an officer upon graduation from Valley Forge Military College in May 1998, earning an Associate's Degree in Criminal Justice. He then earned his Bachelor's degree in Sociology from the State University at Albany, in New York. He completed the Infantry Officer Basic Course, Military Police Captains Career Course and the Human Resource Branch Transition Course. He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal and other United States military decorations.
